1998 TALISMAN

The Theme of Rutland Public Schools is "Great Expectations".

The 1998 Talisman theme revolves around the exchange of words, probably the most influential element of our academic and social lives. Whether it be the ten page term paper~you stayed up all night typing, the hot gossip session in between classes, or the late pass Mrs. Favor gave you the morning you just couldn't get out of bed... the exchange of words engulfs us all. This year, the yearbook staff has tried to capture them all!!

Our school received the 1997 Vermont Business Round Table Award.

The Class of 1998 is the first class to go all four years in the "new" building.

A good portion of the furniture in the school is remanufactured, recycled from business and industry and purchased by the school at a 50%-90% discount.

The Ground Breaking Ceremony for the "new" Rutland High School was on May 4, 1993. The school opened its doors on September 1, 1994!

To build our school it cost $10.9 million.

A Great Friend

Peg and I became friends when our children were young. We have shared their triumphs and their sorrows. When being a good mother was trying, we had each other to turn to for support, understanding, and sympathy, when necessary. Together we have survived our children's ski lessons, school dances, teenage traumas, drivers' tests, graduations, college experiences, career changes, boyfriends, girlfriends, pets, laundry, shopping trips, sports events, injuries, hospitalizations, laughter and tears. Our families have had dinner together nearly every Friday night at a local restaurant for the past fifteen years. When all our kids were young, we needed three or four tables to seat our lively group. These days it is often just us four adults, but we still have plenty of fun thinking back on all those good times. Even now when our kids are home, they still love to join us for our good Friday night dinners which are still lively...still fun...although we haven't done the spoons-on-our-noses trick in a while!

Peg and I have been there for each other through good times and bad. We have rallied for birthdays, tennis, skiing, walking, aerobics, great books, movies and our famous shopping trips. We have helped each other through job changes, moving, weddings, and funerals. We have escaped like "Thelma and Louise" more than once to Manchester, Burlington, Albany, and most often, to our beloved Mountain Top, where we've skied our troubles away. We've said many times over the years, "the hills are alive!" It's a good thing that they can't speak!

Peg is truly a wonderful friend. She is always game for anything...skiing in a blizzard, walking at 5:30 a.m., playing tennis in the rain. She has a distinctive, wonderful laugh, the kind that makes you feel like laughing along with her. Peg knows when to be sympathetic, when not to intrude and when to tell me to just get through it and move on. We value our friendship, the good memories it has given us and the comfort it brings, knowing that we will be friends forever. I found a quote that reminds me of us. It read, "We have been friends together, in sunshine and shade." What more can I say?

A Great Teacher

Perhaps more than any other teacher at Rutland High School, the Class of 1998 owes a great debt to English teacher Peg Mullin. Over the course of the past four years, Mrs. Mullin has been a teacher, advisor, and friend to this year's graduating seniors. She is invaluable to all of her students.

When we were freshmen, Mrs. Mullin, along with Mr. Parkman, held our hands as our class advisor. Now that we are seniors, she helps us say good-bye. She's producing the Senior Video, putting together the Senior Ball, and organizing graduation. For many of us in her English classes, she holds the key to graduation in her very own hands.

When I walked into Pacesetter English at the beginning of the school year, I didn't know what to expect. I soon found that I had a great new teacher and a very interesting class ahead of me in my senior year. Mrs. Mullin has helped me produce some of my best pieces of writing, polish up my college essays, and learn a great deal about myself and others. She has also encouraged risk-taking and creativity. Because of her and her class, I strutted on stage wearing a "lovely" black sequined prom dress, blue wig, and tiara as Desdemona from Shakespeare's play, Othello, for an English project. At least now I know what not to wear to the Senior Ball!

Through the ups and downs of this year, she has been there. Her congratulations on my triumphs and her sympathy for my tragedies have been invaluable. Her understanding in regard to my late assignments and her great sense of humor have been a breath of fresh air during a very hectic senior year.

Mrs. Mullin is more than just a teacher. She's a real person and a friend. I cannot think of another teacher I would have rather wrapped up my high school years with. On behalf of the entire senior class, I say thank you, Mrs. Mullin. We love you.

Down to Earth and Positive!

Academics

During the school day, we all share a common bond that helps bring us together. This bond is the 1 hour and 15 minutes that we call a class. We all have our different strengths and weaknesses when it comes to academics. Strengths determine what we will do with our education during high school. With that education, comes respect for those who have helped us along the way. From teachers, to librarians, to janitors, to bus drivers, it seems we take for granted everything they have done for us. Education is a collaborative effort. Together, teachers, staff, and students can strive to achieve,
Great Expectations... now and for the 21st century.

ADMINISTRATION

What makes RHS an amazing place to go to school? It's a combination of many things. A great faculty and student body, are part of it, but not unseen is the administration. Mr. Gee, Mr. Lattanzi, and Mr. Olson are always working to make education the top priority at Rutland High School. Along with the teachers and staff, these three men strive to make the learning environment at RHS a positive one.

The willingness and support from the administration helps make the climate of our school conducive to learning and teaching. Our administrators are approachable and take time to talk to students on a one to one basis. The mutual respect between the administration and students is displayed through their daily interactions. We, the students, would like to express our appreciation to the administration for the support and the respect they show for us: Thank You!

Guidance and School to Work

The RHS Guidance and School-to-Work program provide various support and services to enable students to succeed. The Rutland High School Guidance office consists of five guidance counselors: Mr. Wolyneec (Director), Mrs. Fisher, Mr. Sampson, Mr. Flory, and Mrs. Cole-Levesque. In addition, Kitty Canfield is the Substance Abuse Counselor, and Dean Mooney is the School Psychologist.

The goal of the School-to-Work program is to support students in making the right career choices. Mrs. Ravenna and Mrs. Pell assist many students in finding jobs that meet their needs. Mrs. Ravenna, along with the guidance counselors instruct the Career Paths program for freshmen. In addition, Mrs. Ravenna supports students during Y.E.S. Plan for job placement sites.

Student Support Services Alternative Education Program S.U.C.C.E.S.S

The student support services at Rutland High School play a crucial role in the success of many students. The services are designed for students who need extra support and encouragement with their academic courses. The objectives of these programs are to help students improve their skills in areas such as problem solving, organization, time management, and taking tests as well as basic study skills. The various programs are designed to meet each individual's needs and allow him/her to meet their goals successfully.

The Alternative Education Program (AEP) is an off campus program located at the Howe Center in Rutland. This program is designed to provide students with a one-on-one learning environment. AEP differs from other student support services in that it allows students the chance to work and successfully complete academic work at the same time. The AEP program allows students to research occupations that would best suit their needs. Learning contracts and individual small group instruction are used to aid students in reaching their goals.

S.U.C.C.E.S.S. (Students Utilizing Caring Creative Education for School Success) is another program another program that provides alternative education. It is located at Southeast School on Allen Street. Success offers an opportunity for students to learn and practice skills necessary to be successful in school and in community settings. The goal of the program is to help student develop a positive self-worth, small group instruction and learning contracts are also included in the success program.

These programs have helped a great number of RHS students not only in achieving academic success, but also in reaching personal goals.

Study Habits

If you take a stroll through the hallways at 7:30a.m. then you are sure to see one thing, studying! Students are always racing to get that last bit of knowledge into their brains before class begins. The problem is most of the time they wish they had prepared earlier in the week. Last minute work is the answer, say many students. Throughout the school, there are many places to study, the most popular is the Information Center. Students also study in the lunchroom, hallways, and in classrooms.

Study Support

Need a tutor? Well RHS can help you out. Volunteer coordinator Mrs. Wilburn, oversees a new tutor program at RHS. As you can see, she has it under control!

Need a little more help? Well stroll down to White 15, Mrs. Rafter's door is always open!

So many meals in so little time! Each day, ten wonderful people come in and make over nine-hundred meals. They go by the name of "Lunch Ladies." Rutland High School and Stafford Technical Center students give thanks to these great people for spending so much time preparing our meals every day.

"The students are seldom rude, and if they are, we take care of them." Win said with a little chuckle. Both of our populations treat these people with appreciation; we know how much that they give.

Early in the morning before some of us even get up for school the "lunch-ladies" start cooking for Rutland High School and Stafford Technical Center students. Some students come in and eat breakfast before their A block class, while others go and finish off last night's homework assignment. But in all, breakfast starts the day for the students and the "lunch ladies". "Tastes great, less filling!" Says Chris Warner a junior at RHS.

Eagerly waiting for the bell to ring at the end of the block, we find ourselves thinking about the seven different entrees. Of course including the extras line to choose from to fill our bellies. Lunch starts at 11:55am and goes on for twenty minutes. "Lunch should be longer." A freshmen named Courtney Collins explains. These short periods may not be enough social time but seems to be an adequate amount of time to either drink a juice, have a bagel or a slice of pizza. "We should have soda." suggested Amanda Truhan. The last lunch begins at 1:15, which is very convenient for most people. Of all of the things that go on in the school, lunch is one of the most popular activities during the day. This entire program could not be possible without careful planning. Thank you!

What's The Word ?

The Information Center is not just a place for checking out books and periodicals. As always, students go to the Information Center to do homework, study for tests, read books and of course, to socialize a little. But, today's Information Center has a few more perks. The Brother's Information Center provides various means to gather "information" such as Interlibrary loan, CD Roms, LaserDiscs, and videos. Rutland students also have the opportunity to use several computers in the Information Center. These are great resources, and everyone enjoys these research technologies. The most appealing activity is using the Internet. All Rutland students have the opportunity to access the internet, if they have signed consent from their parents or guardians. Students can even open their own e-mail accounts! So, whether it's surfing the web, accessing e-mail, or researching a topic-

The Rutland High School Physical Education department offers a variety of courses to meet the needs and interests of students. A variety of activities are offered, including: floor hockey, badminton, table tennis, basketball, Project Adventure, personal fitness, weight training, and volleyball, to list a few.

The Health department also is growing! Health is a required course for all grade nine students. Teen issues such as: healthy living, decision making, sexual education, drugs and alcohol, and social issues are discussed in this course.

Music and Art

Fine Arts has taken on a whole new wave. Many new courses are being offered in the Fine Arts Department, such as: Fine Arts Survey, Portrait Drawing, Drawing Portfolio, Creative Structure, Jazz Band and Chambers.

Mrs. Crowley, an Art Teacher, feels her courses entail a variety of different styles and techniques. One of the new opportunities is the Art Show on Channel 15. This show features many students and their art works. The show has featured works of art from: Jeff Sinos, Sally Olson, AJ Jeromin, Lee McColgan, Matt Marro and Corina Campbel.

The Music department also offered many new courses. Most of these academic courses, require performance as a portion of the student's grade.

To most artists, art and music are glorious forms of self-expression, and relievers of Stress!

Assemblies

The '97-'98 school year has seen many changes at Rutland High School; one of them is the monthly assembly. Each month students congregate in the gym, for Student of the Quarter Awards. Students who achieve high goals in their classes are recognized at this assembly.

Along with awards, there is great entertainment. Performances from groups such as: the Stafford Technical Center's Music Theory and Appreciation Class, RHS Chorus, Concert Band, and the Jazz Band have all kept the student body tapping their toes.

In addition, guest speakers have visited RHS, to offer their points of view. The most memorable speakers, Mr. Bob Keene, from the Improbable Players, shared his own experiences of alcoholism. His presentation was humorous, but the message was clear, Living the Life of an Alcoholic is not a joke.

Assemblies were very popular events this year, not because of lost class time, but because of the importance and Spirit Anyone?

Some people think that the students at Rutland High School have little or no school spirit, but this year, we proved them wrong. One of the goals of the administration, was to improve school spirit. Events such as pep rallies, bon fires, and the annual spirit week were held to enhance spirit.

During spirit week, each day was designated for a different spirit event. Monday was pajama day, Tuesday was hat and sunglasses day, Wednesday was stuffed animal day, Thursday was dress up day, and Friday was red and white day. On Thursday night, there was a bon fire, where many people attended. People decided to let it all out and show their spirit. There was a hall decorating day to boost school spirit. Tuesday night, members of all of classes joined in decorating hallways with streamers, red and white decorations, and toilet paper.

The class winner of the 1998 Spirit week were the Freshman. This class that dressed up in pajamas, brought in the most stuffed animals, and showed the most school spirit.

Many other pep rallies were held through out the year, and the participation by student's was amazing.

As the cheer goes,
*"We got Spirit,
 Yes We Do,
 We got Spirit,
 How 'bout you!?"*

ACTIVITIES

Countless hours of time are spent on academic work during the school year. The amount of effort it takes just to keep up with homework is enough to make anyone's head spin. Many students find that dealing with regular classes is all that they can handle during a school day. Still, a growing number of students find time after school to explore interests that cannot be offered as a class at RHS. These students are involved in extracurricular activities.

Extracurricular activities give students a comfortable environment to do anything, such as creating a monster Halloween float to debating political issues. Since extracurricular activities are based on student's interests, they are a great way to further one's knowledge in a particular area. Many such activities prepare students for possible careers, while others are just a hobby to pass the time. Although the activities at RHS can be separated by different interests, one common bond brings all of them together. Everyone is involved because they enjoy it. So lots of fun might take the place of a few valuable homework hours a week, but hey, that is a sacrifice some people choose to make.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Rutland High School Student Council members represent the entire student body! Members of the student council are elected each year by classmates. Council members form a governing body which addresses concerns and discusses issues concerning students, teachers, and the community.

The Rutland High School Student Council works very hard to make our school and community a better place. They sponsor a wide variety of activities including: the annual blood drive, school wide dances, pep rallies, prevention convention and several coffee houses. This hard working and determined group of students make a tremendous impact on our school and community.

Jeff Whitmer is making a difference!

Key Club... When asked, most people respond, "Do they make keys?" or "Ah... is it a typing club?" Key Club is the largest high school service organization in the United States. The Kiwanis Educated Youth (KEY) work 100+ hours, to better serve the school and the community. Key Club was introduced in 1935, in Sacramento California, and now there are well over 4,000 clubs. The Key Club International devotes much of its time to helping and involving children.

RHS Key Club undertakes many projects for children as well as others. Activities such as, food drives, book drives, wheelchair square dancing, wrapping presents, and entertaining the elderly, are carried out.

They not only have an effect on the local community, but the nation as well. They support Iodine Deficiency Disorder (IDD) and the Kiwanis Pediatric Trauma Institute (KPTI) by donating money. This is no small task, and they do an excellent job.

Here are some Freshmen experiencing Key Club for the first time.

Although it is only in its second year, the Mentor/ Advisor Program is moving right along. Last year seven groups with over 42 students got together to form a new activity sponsored by the University of Vermont. This activity meets two to three times per week during x - block. Students discuss many different issues within their groups, including planning and preparing for future projects. Group members have learned a lot about each other and have become good friends.

As part of the program, groups have taken trips to such places as Burlington, the Great Escape, and to the Bowlerama. Sometimes they meet at the Coffee Exchange, The Bagel Cafe or Ben and Jerry's. Community activities the groups have participated in include: visiting nursing homes, cross-peer teaching activities, and providing to GMTI for the Spring Carnival. Groups have also created scrapbooks, and shared dinners with their families. This program will continue to grow as well as the friendships of it's members.

JETS

Junior Engineers Technical Society

Do you like math and science? Are you planning on being an engineer? Then the JETS is the club for you! By participating in competitions, these students have the opportunity to experience hands-on engineering. In the JETS club, members have the opportunity to experiment their individual mathematical and scientific knowledge by creating different projects. The club participates in several engineering competitions in which members are able to demonstrate their outstanding skills. In November, the Rutland JETS team traveled to Burlington to compete in the Design TASC Competition, sponsored by the University of Vermont. The goal of the competition was to create a packing machine for Vermont products. The Rutland Team finished a strong fifth! Congratulations on a job well done!

Science Club

As the name implies, the RHS Science Club is a group of students who share an interest in the scientific world and are introduced to a variety of topics from the natural world by biology teacher and club advisor, Mr. Hooker.

Some of the group's accomplishments this year include: the annual science fair, and a school-wide recycling program. The main event, the Science Bowl is a contest between students, who test their knowledge in categories including chemistry, biology, and general science. The club was presented with a spirit award for their enthusiasm. They also sponsored a number of lectures, field trips, and exciting videos for the student body.

WORDS OF ART

Concerning themselves with the emotions and experiences of the industrial clock motion of their lives, there are those who alter their first-person perceptions and bask in the cool understanding of literature, in Rutland High School's Poetry Club, led by advisor Steve French. With force and fervor, they fuse the 3-Dimensional into the 2-Dimensional, constructing a picture with words. Words of emotion, experience, understanding, ignorance, and relation. Words of size and weight. Words of reflection. Words of hope. Words of themselves and themselves of words. Themselves of the Rutland High School Poetry Club.

WORKS OF ART

Many students at Rutland High School enjoy art and other creative expression in their classes and free time. It seems natural that a growing number of these students have joined the RHS Art Club, an organized, extracurricular activity. The group was involved with many activities this year, including the Rutland Halloween Parade, raku projects, and developing college portfolios.

Every member has a different reason for belonging to the Art Club, but everyone involved shares a love of art in general. Members said they learned the value of teamwork, cooperation, and expression of the arts and structural creations, from both their peers and the club's advisor, Creative Structure teacher, Mr. Halford. Many of those involved hope to pursue a career in the arts and this club allows members to prepare for the future. Besides learning life skills, they had the opportunity to create art forms, which they can present for both college and scholarship applications.

All group members have a profound appreciation for art, and think that the Art Club is a worthwhile experience.

Expressing Words

No Work...

All Play

Do these kids ever get any sleep?! This year's Drama Club, Encore Theatre, keeps trucking and just never stops. The first week of school people signed up for auditions for Arthur Miller's "The Crucible". After their performances the club immediately began to work on "Murder in the House of Horrors" in order to prepare for their performance at the New England Theatre Conference.

The activities didn't stop there. In January the club had two bake sales, and then a bottle drive after Super Bowl Sunday. Then things got cracking for the one act play, "Mimsy Were the Borogoves". This play performed at the One Act Regional Festival which our school is hosting this year. We then trucked on to the New England Yankee Festival in Goffstown, NH. Encore had another solid and productive year expressing words.

“ In order to produce a good quality show we need to want to take the time and effort that is needed. If that means no sleep, so be it.

What an Honor!

Rutland High School's National Honor Society members are some of the most academically talented students in our school. The qualities required of each member include: scholarship, leadership, character, and community service.

The group participates in many activities over the course of the year to help the community. The group held a dinner for foreign exchange students, they volunteered to brave the bitter cold by standing on street corners ringing bells for the Salvation Army, and other numerous activities to benefit our community.

In addition, the group has a guest speaker once a month during their Thursday afternoon meetings. This year's speakers have included a massage therapist, a communications worker at Edgewood Productions, Lt. Earl from the Salvation Army, and our own Tom Smith with a presentation on his trip to study Biology in Hong Kong. The group's officers, which include President Tracy Wilson, Vice-President Adam Wolk, and Secretary Caitlin Corey, had productive ideas for the group this year.

"Work harder, do better, exceed your goals."

Learning the Way

What did you do last summer? Did you spend a week in a model state government? Six boys and seven girls from Rutland High School did. During the week of June 15-20, the guys attended Boys State at Norwich University, while the girls attended the Girls State at Vermont College.

The program consisted of a week-long camps in which 200 high school seniors simulated a mock government at state and town levels. "Citizens" of both programs ran for various offices at these levels. Rutland citizens held many positions in their towns as well as being Senators and Representatives. Monica Canfield-Lenfest was elected Lieutenant Governor of Girls State and Jeff Hochberg was Chief Justice of the Boys State Supreme Court.

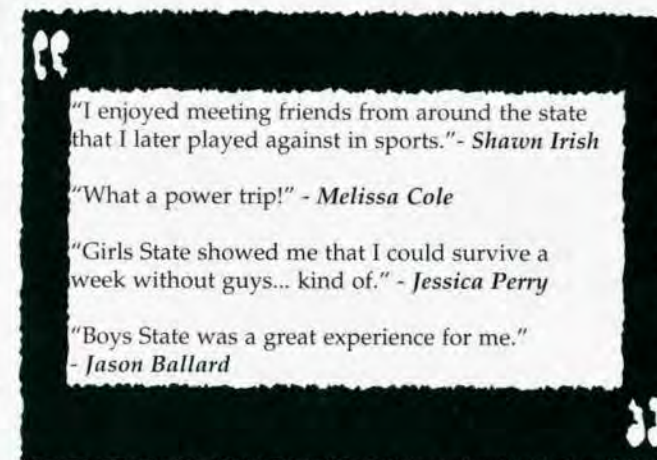

There were a number of fun activities that occurred during the week. Recreation time was scheduled during every day, including various sports and swimming. A barbeque was held the second to last day of the week, and Girls and Boys State came together. It was quite a wild afternoon. The most popular activity of the day was a game of Jilted Lover.

RED AND WHITE

The Red & White, Rutland High School's bi-weekly student newspaper, had one of its most successful years during the 1997-98 school year. With the first issue of the paper's fourth volume, released on Friday, October 3, 1997, the R&W boasted insightful stories, thoughtful editorials, and improved design, setting the standard for the issues to follow. Thanks to a strong group of contributing writers and a talented editorial staff, the Red & White enjoyed new life in the new year.

This school year was full of controversial topics and the R&W was there to cover them, some of the paper's best stories dealt with such issues as; recycling, homophobia, smoking, overcrowding, and the debate over internet access for students.

Two of this year's articles were published in the Rutland Herald. Bianca Rotmil's insightful reporting on the effects of Vermont's newly adopted tobacco law on RHS and Patrick Raymond's editorial dealing with the issue of homophobia and harassment in the school enjoyed exposure in Vermont's second largest newspaper.

In November, two R&W staffers, sports editor Aaron Dardeck and editor-in-chief Patrick Raymond, along with fellow RHS student Kristen Nugent, took part in Vermont ETV's Forum with the Governor. Joining 30 other high school students from around the state, the three seniors grilled Gov. Howard Dean about a variety of issues concerning Vermont's youth. "I really enjoyed the Forum. It gave me a chance to meet new people and pursue specific interests of mine," stated Aaron Dardeck.

Sophomore news editor Bianca Rotmil prepares to take the reigns of the paper next year, after a majority of the staff -- mostly seniors -- leaves.

Bianca said, "The past two years I've spent on The Red & White have been a wonderful experience. I'm looking forward to the next two because we have a lot of new and interesting things planned."

The 1997-98 school year proved to be the most successful of Journalism teacher Jason Robtoy's three year tenure on the paper.

"I think we've had the most consistent paper this year," stated Robtoy.

This was one year The Red & White lived up to its motto: "Well worth the paper it's printed on."

TALISMAN

What does it take to produce a Yearbook?
Even more than you can imagine!

The 1998 Talisman staff was a group of focused and dedicated students. Our goal was to produce a quality yearbook, filled with memories. Spending long and countless hours, the staff completed all of the 192 pages of this year's book! Our work was cut out for us! Due to technological advances, the format and method of creating pages was changed. We not only had to learn how to design a yearbook, but we also had to learn how to use the software needed to publish it. Working with page layouts, computer time, pictures, articles, quotes, and most of all, deadlines, it was hard for us to keep our sanity. Although none of us were sane to begin with!

Teen Helpers

The Green Mountain Teen Institute (GMTI) is one of RHS's largest and longest running programs. GMTI is a state wide prevention program, with Rutland being one of the largest participants. With 60 members in grades 9-12, this program makes a huge impact!

This prevention group sponsors community events each year, including a Spring Carnival. Members participate in several programs including: Big Friend/Little Friend at Northeast and Northwest Elementary Schools, Diversion, Governors Youth Leadership Conference, several Drinking and Driving Prevention events, and in various other special projects.

The ultimate goal of GMTI is to create a safe, healthy, and fun environment for all RHS students!

Teen Leaders

V.T.L.S.P. What is that? It is Rutland High School's newest prevention group! The Vermont Teen Leadership Safety Program is a statewide program that is "Committed to Safety Awareness and Youth Leadership." VTLSPP links groups such as SADD, GMTI, Student Council, Mentor Advisor Program, and the Key Club. The goal of the program is to promote safe, healthy, and drug free life-styles.

Students involved in this program participate in programs at the local, state and national levels. During the summer, elected representatives attend the National Student Safety Program. Throughout the school year, members are involved in various statewide activities, including: planning and attending the Governor's Youth Leadership Conference, testifying before the legislature on several teen related issues (tobacco laws, graduated licensing, and DUI laws), attending teen dialogue nights, and attending the Red Ribbon Tree Ceremony. Locally, these teens have sponsored: guest speakers during red ribbon week, refuse to abuse ski/bike races, the Save our Seniors Project, the Tie one on campaign, the safety belt survey, and participated in various cross peer-teaching activities.

Although, VTLSPP is a relatively new program at Rutland High School, its positive influence will be seen for years to come.

The Mountaineers

The Mountaineers outing club began last year as a student-initiated club that encompassed a large group of environmentally-sound Seniors and Juniors. The '97-'98 session of the group saw many changes. The club, whose purpose mainly deals in bonding with nature and each other, has grown in size and diversity as it took on a wave of underclassmen. Headed by tri-presidents Lindsey Wormwood, Stephen Remington, and Meghan Martin, with faculty advisor, Mr. Rosenberg, the Mountaineers are constantly encouraged to live up to the club's motto;

"To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield."

Q. Why did you join The Mountaineers?

A. "I love nature and wanted to get out more often."
-Jordan Trinci
"For the hiking, climbing, drumming, and xc skiing."
-Karly Haven

The Gay/Straight Alliance

Adding to the growing list of RHS student initiated clubs, The Gay/Straight Alliance (otherwise known as GSA) was new for the 1997-1998 school year. Sparked by the October harassment petition, (organized by seniors Pat Raymond and Kristen Nugent) signed by 200 RHS students condemning sexual orientated harassment, the alliance was formed as a support group for fellow classmates. Like most other clubs, the GSA is open to any RHS student, but an open mind is mandatory.

In addition to the weekly meetings, the group was also responsible for creating a free movie night. Senior Beth Stokinger noted that the movie night "was a good idea and pretty successful. We were kind of worried about attendance, but the turn out was great." The Alliance boasted over twenty casual members and about ten who were constantly involved. Fortunately, the '97-'98 GSA, though an extremely diverse group, seemed to form a very supportive and tight-knit club.

A. "It's a really good cause and you need passionate people to stand up for those who aren't strong enough to do it for themselves." - Beth Stokinger

"I wanted to raise awareness about a serious social problem" - Kyle F.

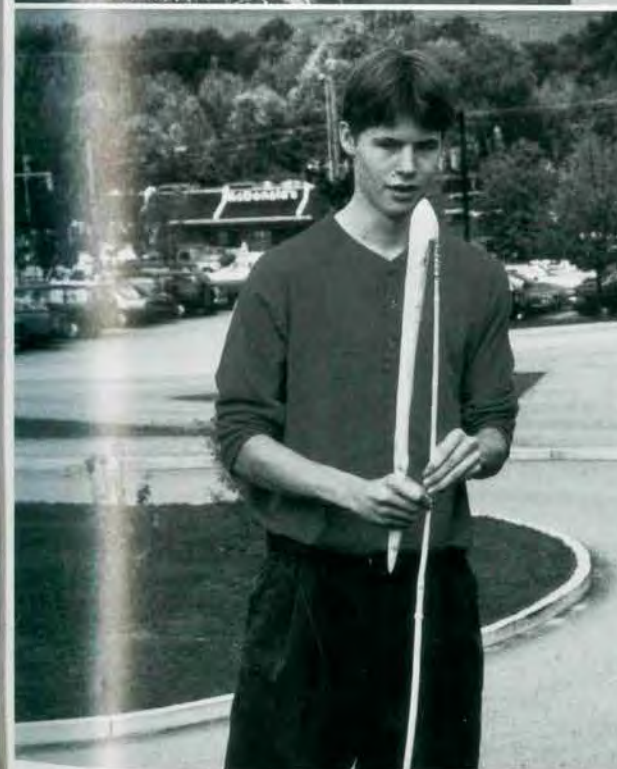

Q. What are some of your favorite GSA activities?

A. "We've had some pretty intense group discussions" - Pat Raymond

"I liked planning events that would ultimately benefit my school and community." - Emily Rooney

"I loved the If books because they've sparked some really notable discussions over the past year."

Roar Of The Crowd

The roar of the crowd after the home team scores, the moans of disappointment after a loss, the visible breath of dedicated fans wrapped in blankets on a frost bitten day: these are the memories that will echo silently through an athlete's mind long after the final spectator departs. They are the memories that bring Rutland High School athletics together, and once together, there is no stopping the unity that sports bring to the participants and to those looking on. There is no stopping the sense of pride shown in the form of a family member's smile. After a tough fall or a rough miss, rarely does one see a player's head down for long, because teammates are always there to pick him up and help him shake it off. They know what it's like, because they've been there. Down on the ground, the only thoughts in their heads are to stay there, or to quit. Quitting is not an option though, because some unknown force gets you back up. Maybe it's the love for the sport, or just sheer will to win, in combination with the primal urge to compete. This is the fuel that drives the unbelievable dedication and commitment it takes to be a part of a team. So sit back and tip your hat to all the athletes. And bite your nails like everyone else, as we watch the Red Raiders give it their all out on the field or court. Although we always yell and scream at games and meets, enough has been said for now. After all.....

Fall Cheerleading was as exciting as ever this season. The squad, coached by Amanda Pagano and her assistant, Cara Austin, featured talented new and experienced members. Captains for this year's squad are seniors Catlin Corey and Adonea Groce.

The squad cheered for the Rutland Raider Soccer, Football and Field Hockey teams. As always, the squad had some great new dances and some exciting new cheers that really pepped up the crowd.

We want to thank these ladies for their hard work, determination and most of all, support! So, fans, let's show that school spirit by SHOUTING THE WORD!

Swingin' Their Sticks

After completing a season with only two losses last year, the Raider field hockey team was yet again a force to be reckoned with throughout Vermont. After losing seven seniors from last year's second place team, these girls knew they had a lot of work ahead of them. Hoping to reaffirm their rank as the number one team in Division 1, they adopted the "Go Bananas" work ethic and put their hearts into every game. During the middle of their season the girls tied two games so Coach Sanders came back with a totally new setup that would bolster the offense. After the new arrangements, the Raiders dominated the field.

Even in the frustrating semifinal game that robbed the stickers of their chance at the title, Rutland dominated. Playing short one midfielder after five minutes into the second half, the girls plowed through the snow in Spaulding and held the Crusaders off into double overtime. The final score was 3-2, but the score could never tell the whole story. Captains Megan Rupe and Lindsay Wormwood led their team with much dignity to the very end.

RAIDER FOOTBALL

THE RAIDERS WIN ANOTHER STATE CHAMPIONSHIP!

The 1997 Raider Football team's success was due largely to the leadership of the twenty-three seniors. The Raiders not only won the state championship, but went undefeated with a twenty game winning streak. But the big story was how they conducted themselves on and off the field. This team had some of the best chemistry you could ever find in high school athletics. It was their ability to put aside individual differences for a few hours a day and come together to reach for a common goal. They treated each opponent with the utmost respect. Led by Coach Norman, they showed why they were the best team in the state. The Raiders posed a double threat, being able to score in the air or on the ground. They out-scored their opponents, posting 341 points and only allowing a total of 87 points to be scored. This year's team has set the standards for future teams to live up to.

-Bill Moran.

"I think we did so well because everyone worked hard and put the team first. Everyone just liked to go out and work hard and have fun every day."

-Chris Dupuis

"The key to this year's team was that both the players and coaching staff put in a lot of hard work, during the season and in the off season."

J.V & Freshmen Football

The Junior Varsity and Freshmen teams are the future of Raider Football. With these two teams coming up through the program, the future looks bright. Even though, the Junior Varsity team had a tough season with a record of 4-4, these statistics do not give the team credit for all of their hard work and tremendous improvement. Under the leadership of new coach Dr. Kolodzej, the team showed how hard work and perseverance pays off. The team went into their last game at 3-4 and needed to beat MSJ to break even. The team dug down deep inside themselves and pulled out an impressive win. The Freshmen squad is also very talented team. They are a large team, and have been compared to class of '98. They ended the season with a 3-4 record.

With these two teams coming up through the ranks, the future of Raider Football winning streak will continue.

Getting Their Kicks

The final whistle blows and the Rutland High School soccer teams walk off the field with disappointment in their eyes. It seemed to happen all too often this season for both the boys' and the girls' varsity teams. Despite much adversity throughout this season, the soccer teams made the most of their misfortune. When they did win, the jubilation felt among the crowd was unbelievable.

Although they had a challenging season in general, the girls soccer team did accomplish their traditional goals in style. After beating rival MSJ 4-0 on a crisp autumn night, the Raiders entered their last week of the season with high hopes. Unfortunately, this enthusiasm didn't pay off until the season came to a close. Entering the playoffs as the fourteenth seed, the Raiders trekked up to Missisquoi in confusion about their future. In a shocking upset, the girls ousted the T-Birds 2-1 in a game full of excitement. Surprisingly, the Raiders came away victorious, earning the third seed and becoming the first Rutland girls' soccer team to host a playoff game. The Raiders battled an extremely tough schedule, finishing up the 1997 season at 4-9-3.

The boys had a disappointing season as well, despite the lofty goals they had set for themselves during the pre-season. They had a lot of talent but were never quite able to pull it all together, and found themselves losing games they should have won. They finished the season at 3-12-1, including a big win against MSJ and a consolation win over Otter Valley in their own Loyzelle Tournament. Another big game was the team's tie against MVL titan Mount Anthony, as well as a pair of 2-1 overtime losses to Springfield and Fair Haven. The season ended with a tough loss at #1 ranked CVU, but the heart that the Raider seniors showed in their final outing made it all worthwhile.

INDOOR TRACK

Previously indoor track has only been considered a club sport, but for the first time this year it was recognized as a varsity sport. The indoor track team had a very successful season. The team competed in six meets held at both Dartmouth and UVM, and the state meet. The team members competed in many events including throwing, jumping, short and mid-distance running and relays. The team consisted of a very diverse group of athletes. Every practice brought more excitement and good times were shared by all, whether it be a more clumsy athlete finding some odd way to get hurt each practice, picking on each others eating habits, or contemplating how to hurt yourself during a meet so that you can't finish your race. Throughout the season, athletes were able to explore the numerous events associated with indoor track. Overall, the team had a commendable season.

CROSS COUNTRY

From the beginning, this year's cross country team dedicated themselves to one of the most physically demanding sports. For most runners, practice did not end when the directions from Greg were completed~ it was common for members to put in extra miles and countless hours in the weight room after a hard day's practice. The enthusiasm and constant heart that the team proved to have was of more importance than any medal or award. Although it is a team sport, each individual set small goals to achieve and after completing them they strove to reach another. Aside from their successful season, the lessons that they learned, the hurt that they endured, and the friendships that they made, go far beyond the pride brought by a victorious season.

During the Varsity girls' basketball season this year, many accomplishments were achieved by the hardworking team composed of eight seniors. For the first time in many years the girls' team defeated

Hartford and Brattleboro, two very skilled and competitive teams. Along with the improvement of this talented team came the two-time victory over MSJ's girl's Varsity basketball team. With this accomplishment the varsity team became the prime holders of the Fireman's Trophy award. In addition to all of these achievements, the team grew by improving throughout the entire season.

The Raiders had high expectations going into their regular season. The Raiders played two hard fought games in the Queensbury Invitational Tournament in Queensbury NY and left with the Tournament championship. Both Jesse Baker and Jake Eaton were named to the all-tourney team and Eaton was awarded MVP. With this positive momentum, the Raiders began their season with a great record. After three consecutive losses, the Raiders won an overtime game in Brattleboro. With strong leadership from captains Joe Caliguiri, Tom Nichol and Jake Eaton the varsity team ended the year with a commendable 12-9 record.

A cow bell is heard ringing in the distance as a member of the opposing team is crushed against the boards. The light from the siren shines on the delighted fans as the puck finds its way into the back of the net. The "oohs" and "ahhs" escape from the stands as the goal tender robs a player of a well attempted goal. From the moment the puck is dropped, there is no escaping the intensity and thrill the players and fans get from the nonstop action of ice hockey. Welcome to the world of Raider ice hockey!

This year, the Raiders had their fair share of devotees. The support from their loyal fans lifted their spirits, cheered them on, and helped push them toward their goals throughout the season. Led by captains JB Smith, Matt Daley, and Chris Dupuis, the Raider hockey team rose to the top this year, missing a championship season by only three points to CVU. But because of their dedication, talent, sportsmanship, and attitude, they truly are champions to RHS and all their fateful fans.

The Raider Nordic Ski Team conquered the Division I State Ski Championship held at Mountain Top. Under the guidance of Coach Mike Gallagher, former olympian and olympic coach, the Raiders were destined for success. Sean Gallagher, brought home the Vermont Boys' state titles, making this his third straight year as state champion. While, sophomore, Margaret Maher, took the Girls' state title, making this her second consecutive year as state champion. The entire team had many accomplishments throughout the season. During the state championships finishers included: Erin Kirk-Elkin, Ryan McLaughlin, Jamie McCormack, Sally Olson and Nicole Chapleau. The accomplishments of this team is a result of hard work, dedication and team work.

The snow flies off the newly waxed skis, as a body blurred from speed, races down the slopes of Vermont's beautiful hills. Streaking down the mountain with sometimes only seconds between first and last place, is a feat only taken on by the members of the RHS Alpine ski team, a group of athletes that take on the challenge of harsh weather and steep mountains.

This years team was led by Coach McClallen, boys' captains, Hunter Brown and Casey Clifford and girls' captains, Melissa Cole and Andrea Hersh. A highlight of the season was the state championship races, which both the RHS boys and girls were state runners-up. Standing out at states were Collin Fingon who won the Giant Slalom and Maggie McCann who won the Slalom. Fingon also prevailed in the New England races. This team should be congratulated for such a succesful season.

RHS Wrestling

Wrestling is a sport that has been missing from RHS for two years. This winter, Coach Israel, who came from Otter Valley started the RHS wrestling team. Out of the few that joined, he has coached a well-rounded team. Everyone on the team has improved and worked harder each day. It's a tough sport but everyone has managed to achieve their goals. My personal opinion, as manager of the team, is that the team is hardworking, strong in mind and body, and great friends. There's not much to say about the wrestling team at this point, but it's good to say, "Go Raiders."

Juniors

class of 1999

SAY WHAT??

What is there to say about the class of 1999? Besides carrying the weight of leaving this century behind, this year's class will also help pave the way into the new millennium. With the diversity and overall outgoing nature of our class members, we can only expect that the job will get done well.

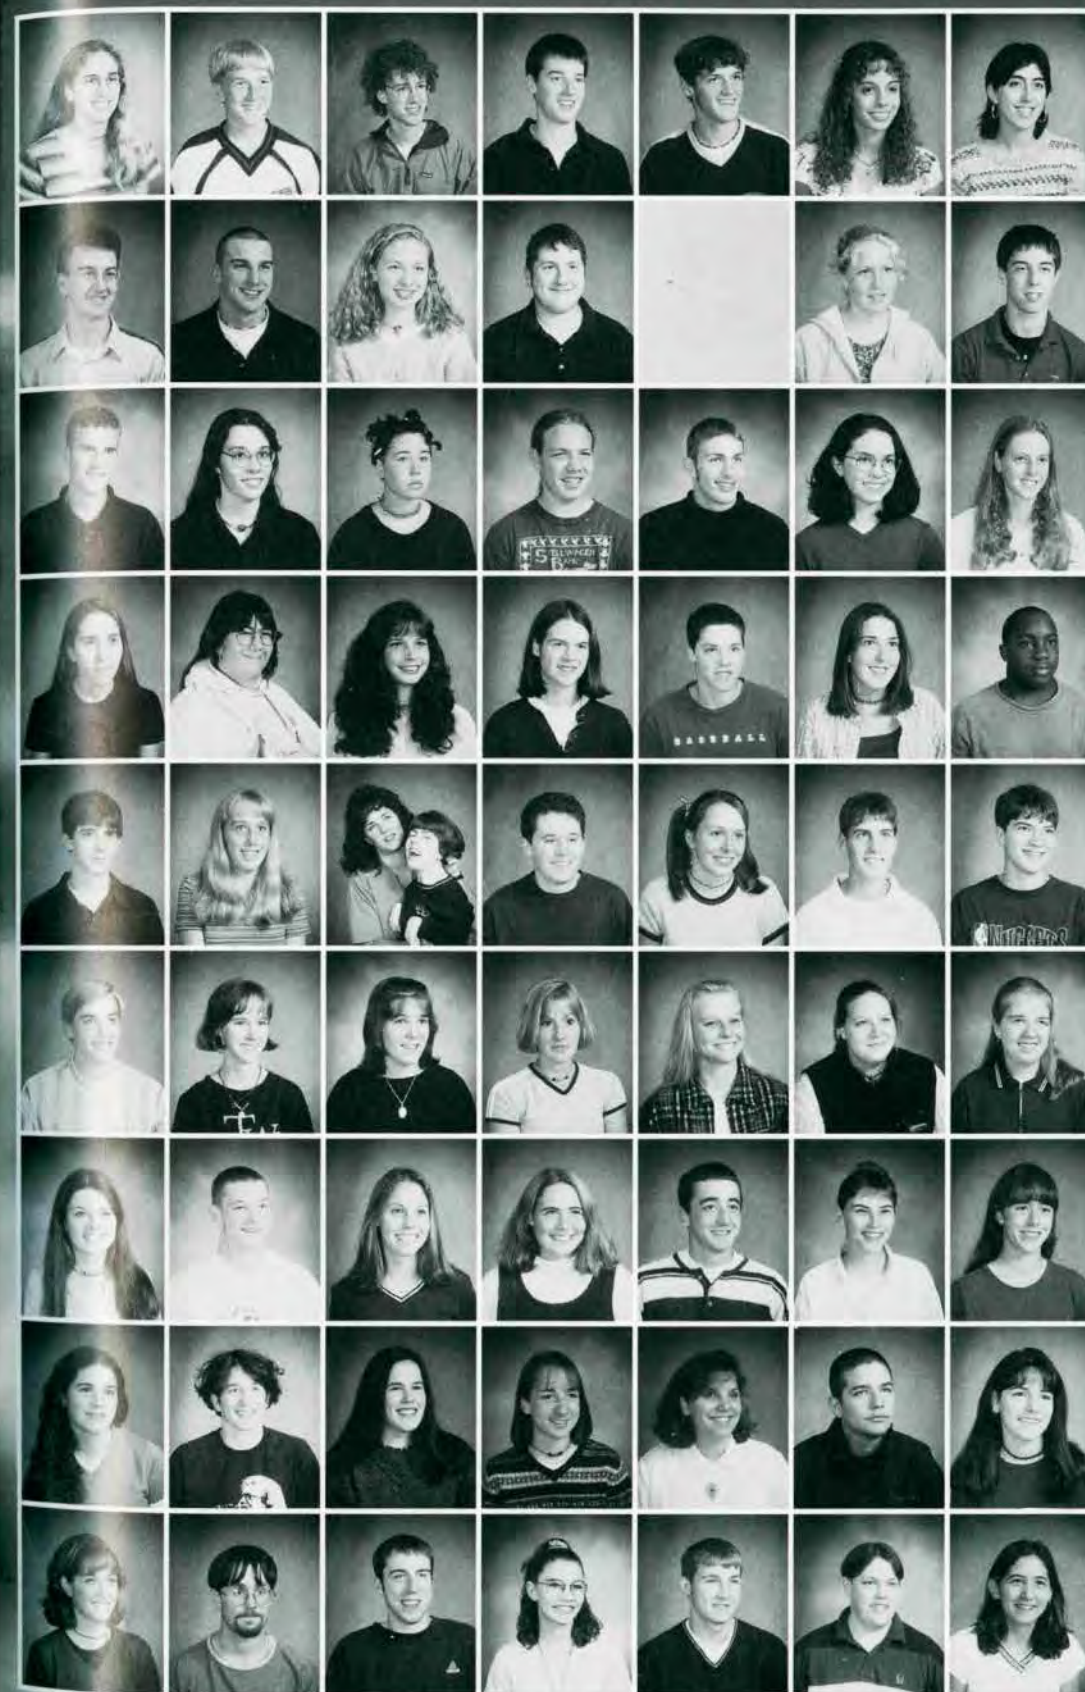

Looking back at the experience we have had thus far, most of us could agree that we've made many irreplaceable memories that we will treasure throughout our lives. With having three years of High School under our belts, the Junior class is more than ready to take its place at the top.

As Juniors we appreciate the great times with our friends and classmates. However, the time seems to be going by all too fast. With the passing of 1998 our obligation is not to look back, but to plan for our futures. So let's enjoy our limited time together and have one more amazing year. Before we know it, it will all be memories.

It's hard to believe, but most of us have completed half of our high school journey. Hopefully, we've become more successful and wise within the past two years.

Now it's time to begin planning our future. The next two years will be crucial in determining the paths we may choose to take. Although this time will be difficult and sometimes seem discouraging, always be true to yourself and never lose your childhood.

When's the Next Assembly?

The most rewarding thing about assemblies is the opportunity to see how others are achieving their personal goals. It is neat that students are publically recognized for their achievements. The ability to see groups perform, whether it be a band, an awareness group, or a chosen speaker, is all very rewarding.
~Charles Romeo

STUDENT LIFE

As the last bell of the day rings, students head out the door to live a little. During the day we talk to our friends about the little things that happen. As soon as we leave school, our regular lives begin. Our plans may be to do our homework, to go to work, get ready for a date or just to hang out. We might just go home and look in the newest issue of "Seventeen" to see who we want to look like or who we would like to seen with! In this section, we have try to capture the many different aspects, of the student life at RHS.

EMPLOYMENT

EMPLOYMENT IN BRIEF

In the beginning of the century, children often worked to help support their families, and their needs. Times have changed! Today, teenagers work to save for college or future plans, to purchase clothes, music, gas, and food. Some teens even work to learn responsibility or because they actually enjoy it. There are also those who work because Mom and Dad say so.

America has turned what used to be the basic needs, (food, shelter, water, and clothing) into stereos, watches, elaborate shoes and expensive clothes. In fact, one of a teenager's basic necessities today has become a car! Who pays for the car? Some are lucky to have parents that will, but for most the answer is a job.

When surveyed, students replied that they work for the pay check. We also found that Rutland High students are employed at various places, and work a variety of hours. Students also shared their opinions of their tips on how to persuade their employers! As you can see on this page the responses were great!

If you are looking for hard working RHS students they can be found at McDonald's, Dunkin' Donuts, Bagel Cafe, Something Sweet, Killington, Pico, and Smokey House, Village Snack Bar, the golf course or a local pool.

We would like to recognize these hard "working" students for holding a job, balancing school, homework, sports, and activities, successfully! Great Work!

STRESS...

Stress or just a Nervous Breakdown

Stress- we all know it well. It haunts us from day to day, it lingers behind piles of untouched homework. Just when we think it might be gone, two papers become due on the same day as a big Chemistry test, and then work calls because they're down a shift. Of course, practice doesn't get out until 5:30, and somehow we promised to babysit for our little brother and sister.

A student in High School is bound to run into days when they feel like they are going to explode. But then if they explode, it would be impossible to get that oral presentation done, and nobody wants to deal with that! It would just be more stress! So we all know what's next:

"Nervous Breakdown."

Rage!!!

... AND HOW TO DEAL

Everyone has Stress at one time or another! So, how do you deal with it? We all have our own method, but what is the magic cure. Some of us try to handle stress in a calm and sensible manner, Such as sleep ing, talking with a friend, attempting to forget it, or taking time for ourselves! Some of us resort to more destructive or external methods. Such as screaming, finding a friend to beat on (with a pillow, of course), grueling exercise, or just being mean and cranky to others. Whatever method you choose,, remember that someone, somewhere, is having a worse day, and things can only get better! So Deal With It!

If all else fails, find a pillow!!!

ALWAYS RELAXED

Take some quiet time, alone.

Parking Permits...

When asked what the craziest thing that you have ever done in a car and what you would like to see done to our student parking lot, some of the responses were out of the ordinary.

Some people know it as our student parking lot and others know it as a demolition derby. Although the average number of student cars in the lot increases every year, the problems are always similar to the ones before.

If you think that you can come to school five minutes before the bell and get a good parking spot, then you better think twice! There are cars parked sideways, crooked, sticking out, or just plain messed up. And then of course you always have your cars that don't even have a parking permit and shouldn't be parked there but they are anyway.

Not only can the student parking lot be known as just a parking lot, but a place to have a little bon~fire fun!!

Rutland High School has nine Sets of Twins this year!

ARE YOU SEEING DOUBLE?

The seemingly exact image of two different people can make for good jokes, conversation, or better yet ... a look-a-like page! This page was created to demonstrate the unmistakable comparison of a handful of individuals who look alike. Aside from the resemblance between these people, there also are those who wish that they could look like or be seen with such people. Who knows who may show up at Rutland next?!

Have you got the LOOK...

As always, Rutland High School students take an active role in supporting their classes, clubs and athletic teams. This devotion to our school has brought about a few fashion statements, unique to Rutland High's student body. The past school year has seen a growing trend of athletes dressing up and dressing down on days on which they are scheduled to battle an opposing team. Although they can be seen out of their uniforms, the trend wearing ties, dresses, pig tails, and pajamas does allow our student body to observe each team's unity in action.

In addition, brand name athletic apparel has begun to interweave its way back into the realm of Rutland fashion. More and more Raiders are finding themselves in not only their letter jackets and jerseys, but also a variety of trendy sweats, windpants, and sneakers. The cross over from practice to classes has not only produced a new level of comfort, but also a few rather interesting fashion statements.

Today, the active student body has seen the growth and momentum of a few styles spawned from the surroundings of our city: hiking boots, cargo pants, fleece pants, wrap around sunglasses, organic clothing, and bulky sweaters, are both adaptive to the outdoors as well as inside. As always, slaves to fashion, RHS students continue to keep up with the latest trends.

FAD &

Talk about comfortable! (Below) Lindsey and Jesse.

(Bottom) Allison, Sarah, Karen, Jen, and Rachel. Whether it is striped, plaid or flannel, these girls are exemplifying the true meaning of school spirit. During spirit week many people showed their school spirit. Everyday should be Pajama Day!

"Fad or Fashion is a way to express yourself."
-Matt McKane
Grade 11.

FASHION

(Right) Lisa and Josh model yet another trend. At RHS, jeans, tee-shirts and a thermal shirts found over or under one another. The layered look is one of the everyday threads at RHS. (Below) Ted can always be found with a smile. However, that is not all, here he can be found prepared for anything. He has glasses for the sun and a winter hat for the cold. (Bottom) Adam Ross, like many others, is also into that comfort thing. He can always be found in his favorite jeans or cords, faded Phish or Grateful Dead tee-shirt, and a hardy hemp necklace.

"You should not ask me about Fad or Fashion because I am the most unfashionable person."
-Ted Holland
Grade 11.

...Of course you do, anything goes!

What's hot in fashion this year? Well, just about everything. Whether it's a spiked collar or a ski hat, you've got the look.

Tommy Hilfiger, J. Crew, GAP, Surf Vermont, Levi's, Adidas, and Doc Marten's are among the many popular brand names this year.

Whether it's Band T-shirts or brand T-shirts, baggy jeans or tight jeans, classy clothing or homemade, plain or striped clothing, they are all in style. Whether the look is chic, prep, neo-hippie, casual, athletic, or goth, it's hot.

If you want to know where people shop you can check out downtown, the Diamond Run Mall, or Church St. in Burlington. Stores like Battery Street Jeans, T.J. Maxx, Sound Barrier, Poore Simon's, the Army and Navy Store, and Camille's are among the popular places raiders shop.

Although these are some of the common places to shop among Rutland High School students, it certainly doesn't mean everyone does. Students are proud to know that their school is a place where you can choose who you wish to be, how you wish to act (to some extent), and who you have for friends. Ultimately, there are enough opportunities at RHS to show who you really are despite what type of clothes you choose to wear.

STUNNINGLY STYLISH

Jamie Bourn, (missing: Ginger Butterfield, Jessica Perry, Casey Clifford)

(Bottom left) Sean (like usual) is found sporting his well-worn letterman jacket. Accompanied with his school spirit Sean also demonstrates another common fashion, among those who are more concerned about comfort than fashion: sweat shirts, a baseball hat (not to be worn in class, of course) and the ever so popular windpants.

(Upper right) Adriane, Emily, and Jessica are seen trying out an increasing fad among teens and even some adults, snowboarding. Not only has this sport become popular enough to find a place in the '98 Olympics, but the clothes that the "snowboarder" wears have too. Whether on the mountain or in town, there is a good chance that the clothes associated with snowboarding can be found.

(Bottom right) Goth and Punk clothing is a form of self expression. Justin and Troy are among the growing group of teens, in and outside of Rutland, that find black clothing, spikes and chains staple pieces of their wardrobe.

TREND SETTER

Nina Wilkinson, Derek Watulak, Abra Langar (missing: Troy McCoullough)

BUDDIES

The four years spent in high school are known for education and preparation for the future. The most important lessons can not be taught in a classroom or be found in a book. The greatest lessons in life are learned through the encounters you have with friends. The friendships and memories can never be forgotten or replaced. Often times these people become life long friends. Buddies are the people that you can trust and will support you no matter what the situation. They are there to listen to you, and never pass judgement. They like us for who we are! Whether you are having a bad hair day or have a crater zit on your face these are the people that you can count on! That's what friends are for!

Hello.....Ladies! (Brady Ryan, Casey Clifford, Micah Kinsler and Tom Nichol)

EVERYBODY'S FRIEND

ALWAYS SEEN TOGETHER

Brandi Henderson (missing: Jenna Shortle, Kevin Kelly, Paul Grinold)

Mark & Mike Blanchette, Brooke Farbotko, Antonella Marrotti

Found just hanging with the boys!

(Below) Josh Puchalski & Jeff Whitmer,
Take to the hills!

(Bottom Right) What are friends for? You never have to worry how you look.

WHAT'S IN A GROUP?

It must have been a good game!

(Right) Quite a bunch of smiles.

Being in high school, can be a confusing time in your life. Having a group of friends can make things easier. A group of friends can help you get through the hard times, and enjoy the good times. The friends you make in high school are the ones you will never forget.

Rutland High School is known for diversity, because of its many different groups. No matter what your hobbies are, what interests you have, or the choices you make, there is a group of friends for everyone at RHS.

BEST LAUGH

"Who's driving this thing anyway?"

Jamie McCullough, Tami Reardon, Shamus Patry
(missing: Erin McKee)

Friendship is the hardest thing in the world to explain. It's not something you learn in school. But if you haven't learned the meaning of friendship, you really haven't learned anything.
-Muhammad Ali

(Right) Are you for real?

Cute, but can you move?

Goodbye Class of 1998

It's hard to believe the year we had all been anticipating since our first day of freshmen year has actually come to an end. Many of us have spent the past year searching for the perfect school to attend next fall while attempting to savor our last few memories here. Now we have begun to question what the world has to offer the high school graduates of '98. No matter what decisions are made, one thing is definite, our years at Rutland High School have come to an end. All that we can take with us is our backpack full of memories and the yearbook.

Our senior year has been filled with the fondest memories of all. Our class officers have worked hard over the past year to help everyone have the time of his/her life. Both junior and senior proms were unforgettable and the class trip was a blast. Still, Rutland High's heavy glass doors are inevitably closing for the class of 1998. Good luck to all in whatever your future may bring! Until we meet again...

We Will Remember... Forever.

BELOW: Beach Boys; Shawn, Casey, Brady, Tom, JB, and Micah get ready to hang ten.

BOTTOM-RIGHT: Jen Singleton begins training for her career, as a high profile super model, at an early age.

Senior Dedication Dan Gilligan

To "Skipper",
We hope that your life is filled with nothing but complete happiness and comfort.
Always remember your Rutland High School family!

The class of 1998 has dedicated the senior portion of the '97-'98 Talisman to Dan Gilligan. He is a very kind and responsible person, who always seems to take the time to go the extra mile for anyone in need. He has lightened many tense moments with his quiet sense of humor. With his kind spirit and humor he has acquired a wide range of friends. Dan manages to be successful in his academics while also being involved in many extra-curricular activities such as: Football, IHM Basketball, Track and Field, and National Honor Society. No matter what Dan is involved in, he gives it his all! Dan's determination and hard work are demonstrated through his accomplishments and his influences on others. Dan's courage is apparent in his everyday life. He has been faced with great adversity and somehow carries on. The strength that Dan displays can be considered his most recognizable trait. Dan Gilligan has unknowingly set the highest of standards for future Rutland High School students. For these reasons, he has become an inspiration to all that have had the pleasure of knowing him.
For this, the 1998 senior class has chosen to recognize Dan Gilligan as an outstanding senior.

Welcome to The Secret Garden

"I cut a rug. I had a great time. The decorations were amazing, the music was pretty good, and my date was the king! What more could a girl ask for?" said an ecstatic Nina Wilkinson when asked how Rutland's Junior Prom turned out.

On Saturday May 17, Rutland High held a prom for the class of 1998. The Secret Garden was conveniently located in the gym and decorated to an extent that made it hard to imagine students ever partaking in physical education rituals in the same space. Complete with authentic looking stone walls, cascading fountains and an intricate trellis, the garden seemed to radiate a mystical feeling.

With the majority of the class attending, it must have been quite the task to pick out the following court; Tom Smith, Tom Nichols, Kevin Hackett, Shawn Irish, Melissa Cole, Adrienne Parker, Jenna Shortle, and Sara Cesarski. Finally, with tension building, Jeff Hochberg and Anne Adams were crowned king and queen of the Secret Garden. From the cheering of their classmates it seemed as if they were well received into their positions.

MIDDLE: Angela, Kristen, Brian, and Alyson are extremely relieved after finally discovering the passageway to the Secret Garden's dance floor.

MIDDLE: Stephen Remington and Chloe Lee await their automobile before departing for an elegant dinner at Casa Bianca.

BOTTOM: Jeff Whitmer holds his date, Allison Wetmore, close as they make a few last minute adjustments before entering the secretive garden.

Time To Say

Goodbye

THE WORD AROUND TOWN IS...

The Rutland High School Yearbook Staff would like to THANK all of the area businesses and parents for their financial support of the 1998 Talisman. Without your support we could have never completed this publication. We are proud to be a part of such a generous and supportive community.

Thank You Rutland!

WE CAN ONLY SAY... THANKS FOR BEING YOU!

Mrs. Pezetti

Mrs. McGurl

Mr. Robtoy

Mr. Peterson

The Yearbook Staff would like to take this opportunity to EXPRESS OUR SINCERE THANKS

to all those who contributed in the production of the 1998 Talisman. Without the support from others this book would not be published. We appreciate all of the pictures, articles, quotes and efforts that everyone has provided. To list all those who contributed materials and support would fill at least three pages. Although we did not list all of your names, we want you to know who you are! We would like to give special recognition to Mrs. Pezzetti, Mrs. McGurl, Ms. Webster, Ms. Grisard, Mr. Robtoy and Mr. Peterson for their support, patience, hard work, and all their time!! We thank Mrs. Pezzetti, for her patience and support with all of our communications in and out of school. We thank Mr. Peterson, for all of the wonderful photos that he provided us. We appreciate his creativity, support, and effort. We thank Ms. Webster and Ms. Grisard, for all of those long days in the Info Center! We thank Mr. Robtoy, for proofreading and editing pages. Without your grammatical and correct spelling "It aint gonna be spelt right!" ha!ha! We also would like to recognize Mrs. Favor, Ms. Fergosi, Mrs. Lopes, Mrs. Costello, Ms. Laval, and Mrs. Mullin for being our edit clean-up crew!! It goes without saying, that without the support and efforts of others, we could not have produced such a memorable yearbook.

We would like to take this opportunity to give special recognition to a very special person...

Mrs. Karen McGurl.

Mrs. McGurl literally supporting Abby Thomas!

The many responsibilities which Mrs. McGurl tackles on a daily basis may be the most underestimated of all. Whether she is working hard to print out one thousand report cards or transcripts, her job is never done. Miraculously she maintains poise, a smile and an optimistic attitude.

Mrs. McGurl always seems to find time to be our support person. Although she is involved in numerous activities, she always takes the time to be there for us. She makes each one of us feel special. That is why she is so special! Thank you for being you!

Brandon,

It seems like only yesterday we watched you walk into a classroom for the first time. The years have flown by, and now you're about to walk into a classroom of life and adulthood.

We're very proud of your successes and the fine persons you've become. As you continue along life's journey, always remember you have our endless love behind you. We know your heart and soul will guide your course while you soar towards your dreams.

Whatever path you choose, your future awaits you, with plentiful possibilities for success. Pursue your dreams with total abandonment, and they will become your reality. Go for it, Brandon, and remember, you'll always have your biggest fans, Mom, Dad, and Janelle, cheering you on, we'll always be there for you.

We love you, Brandon.

Congratulations on your graduation.

SARAH HUTTING

"There's a hero, if you look inside you heart.
You don't have to be afraid of what you are.
There's an answer if you reach into you soul.
The sorrow that you know will melt away.

Then a hero comes along with the strength to carry on,
And you cast your fears aside.
You know you can survive.
So, when you fell like hope is gone
Look inside you and be strong
You'll finally see the truth
That a hero lies in you.

It's a long road when you face the world alone.
No one reaches out a hand for you to hold.
You can find love if you search within yourself
The emptiness you felt will disappear.

Lord knows, dreams are hard to follow
But don't you let anyone, anyone, take them away.
Hold on, there will be tomorrow.
In time you'll find the way."

*You're my hero, Sarah.
I love you always.

Without a doubt the written word is the most significant advance in history. It opened the door to the future filled with recorded ideas. These ideas are the most powerful tools we have in expressing and communicating with others blessed with the gift of thought. Since the high school years are the best of our lives, it is only logical that we combine these times with words into the '98 yearbook. Thus we find this year's theme to coincide with fun, thoughts, and memories: memories of friends and classmates, of teachers and faculty, memories of the greatest times of our lives.

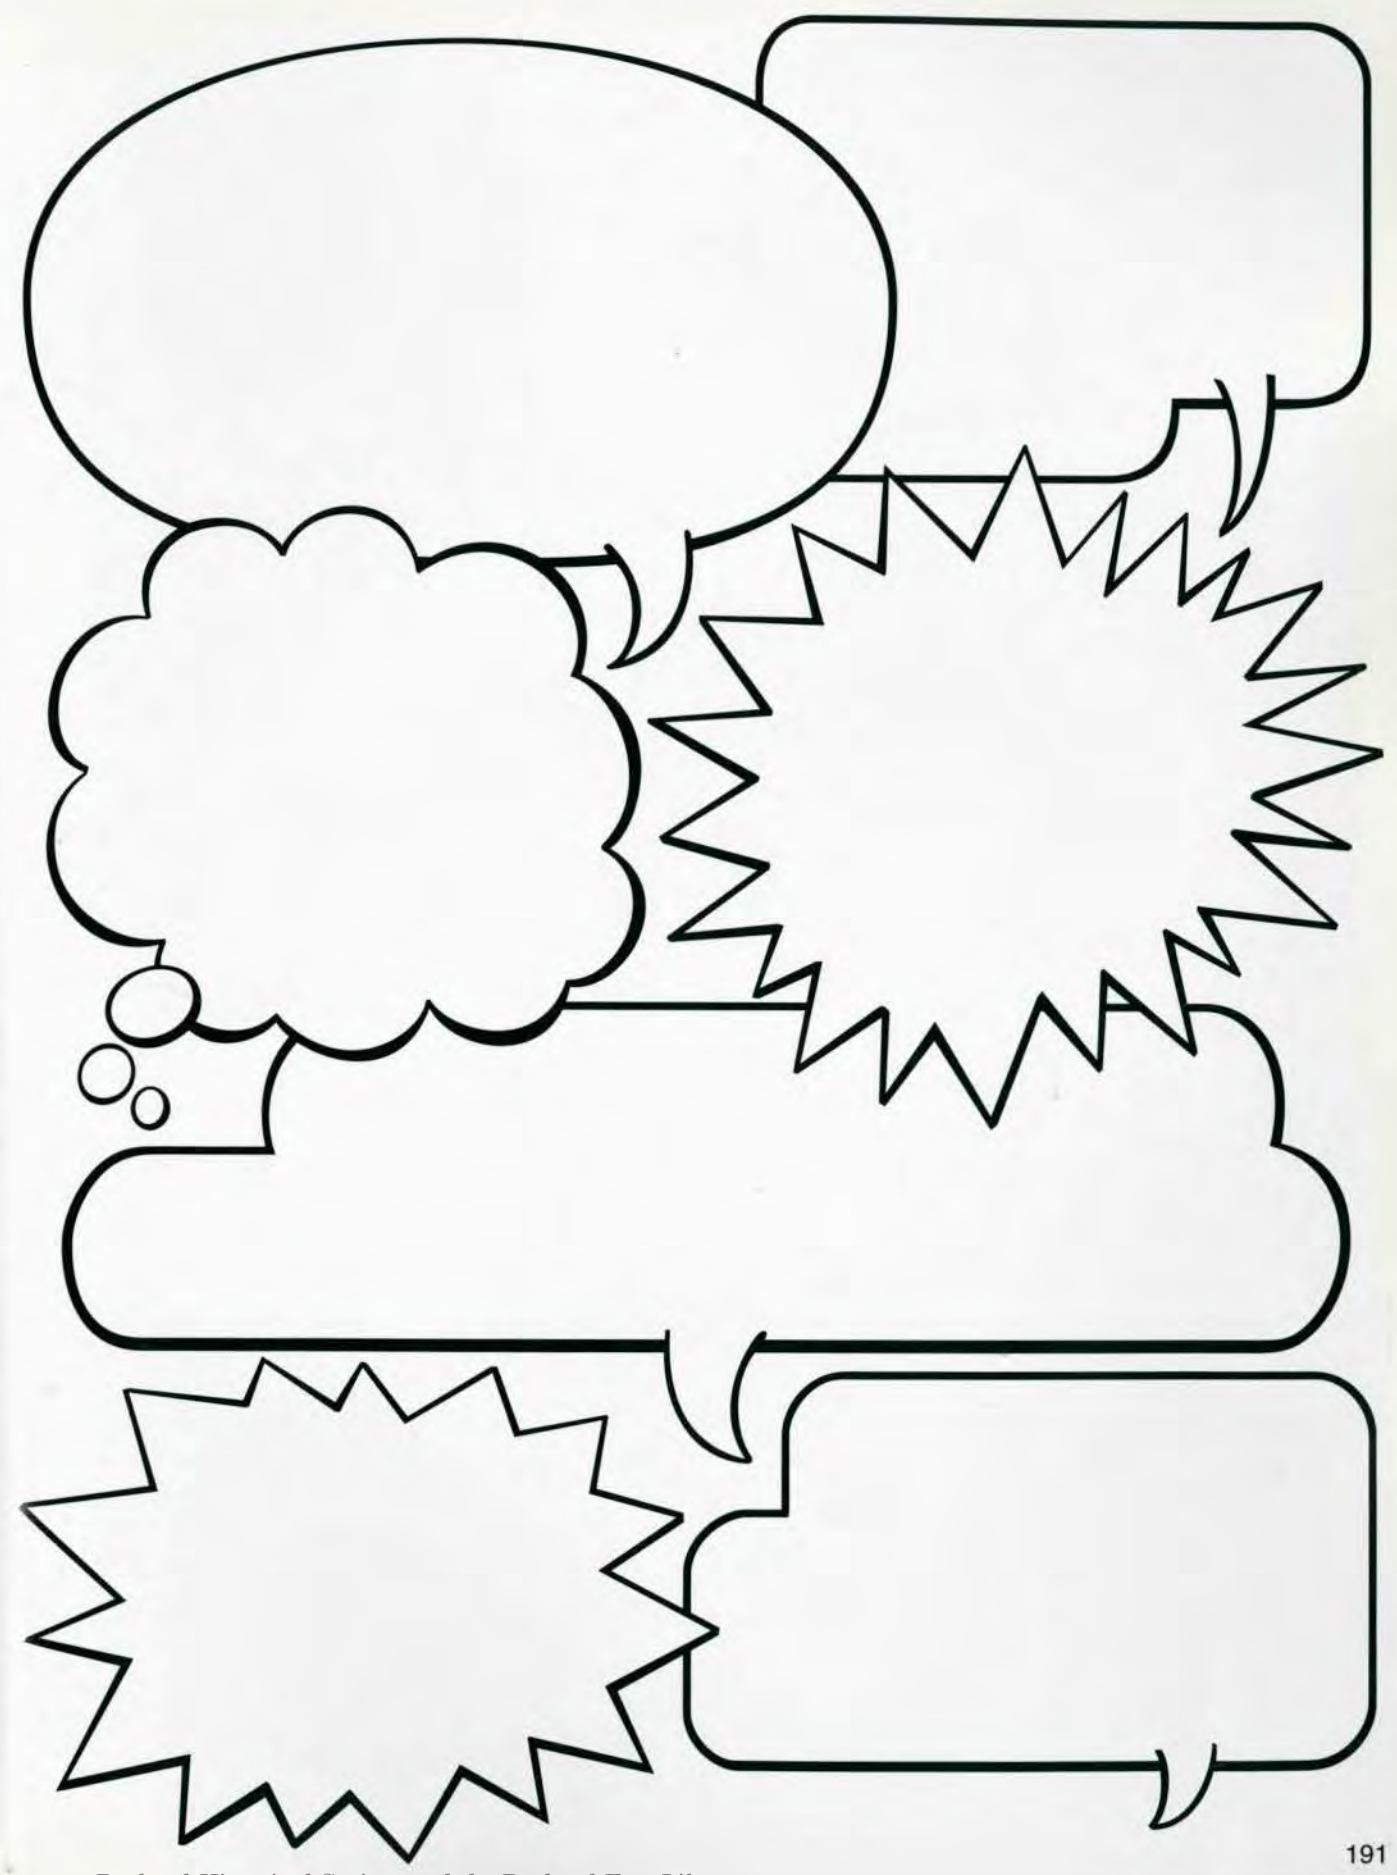

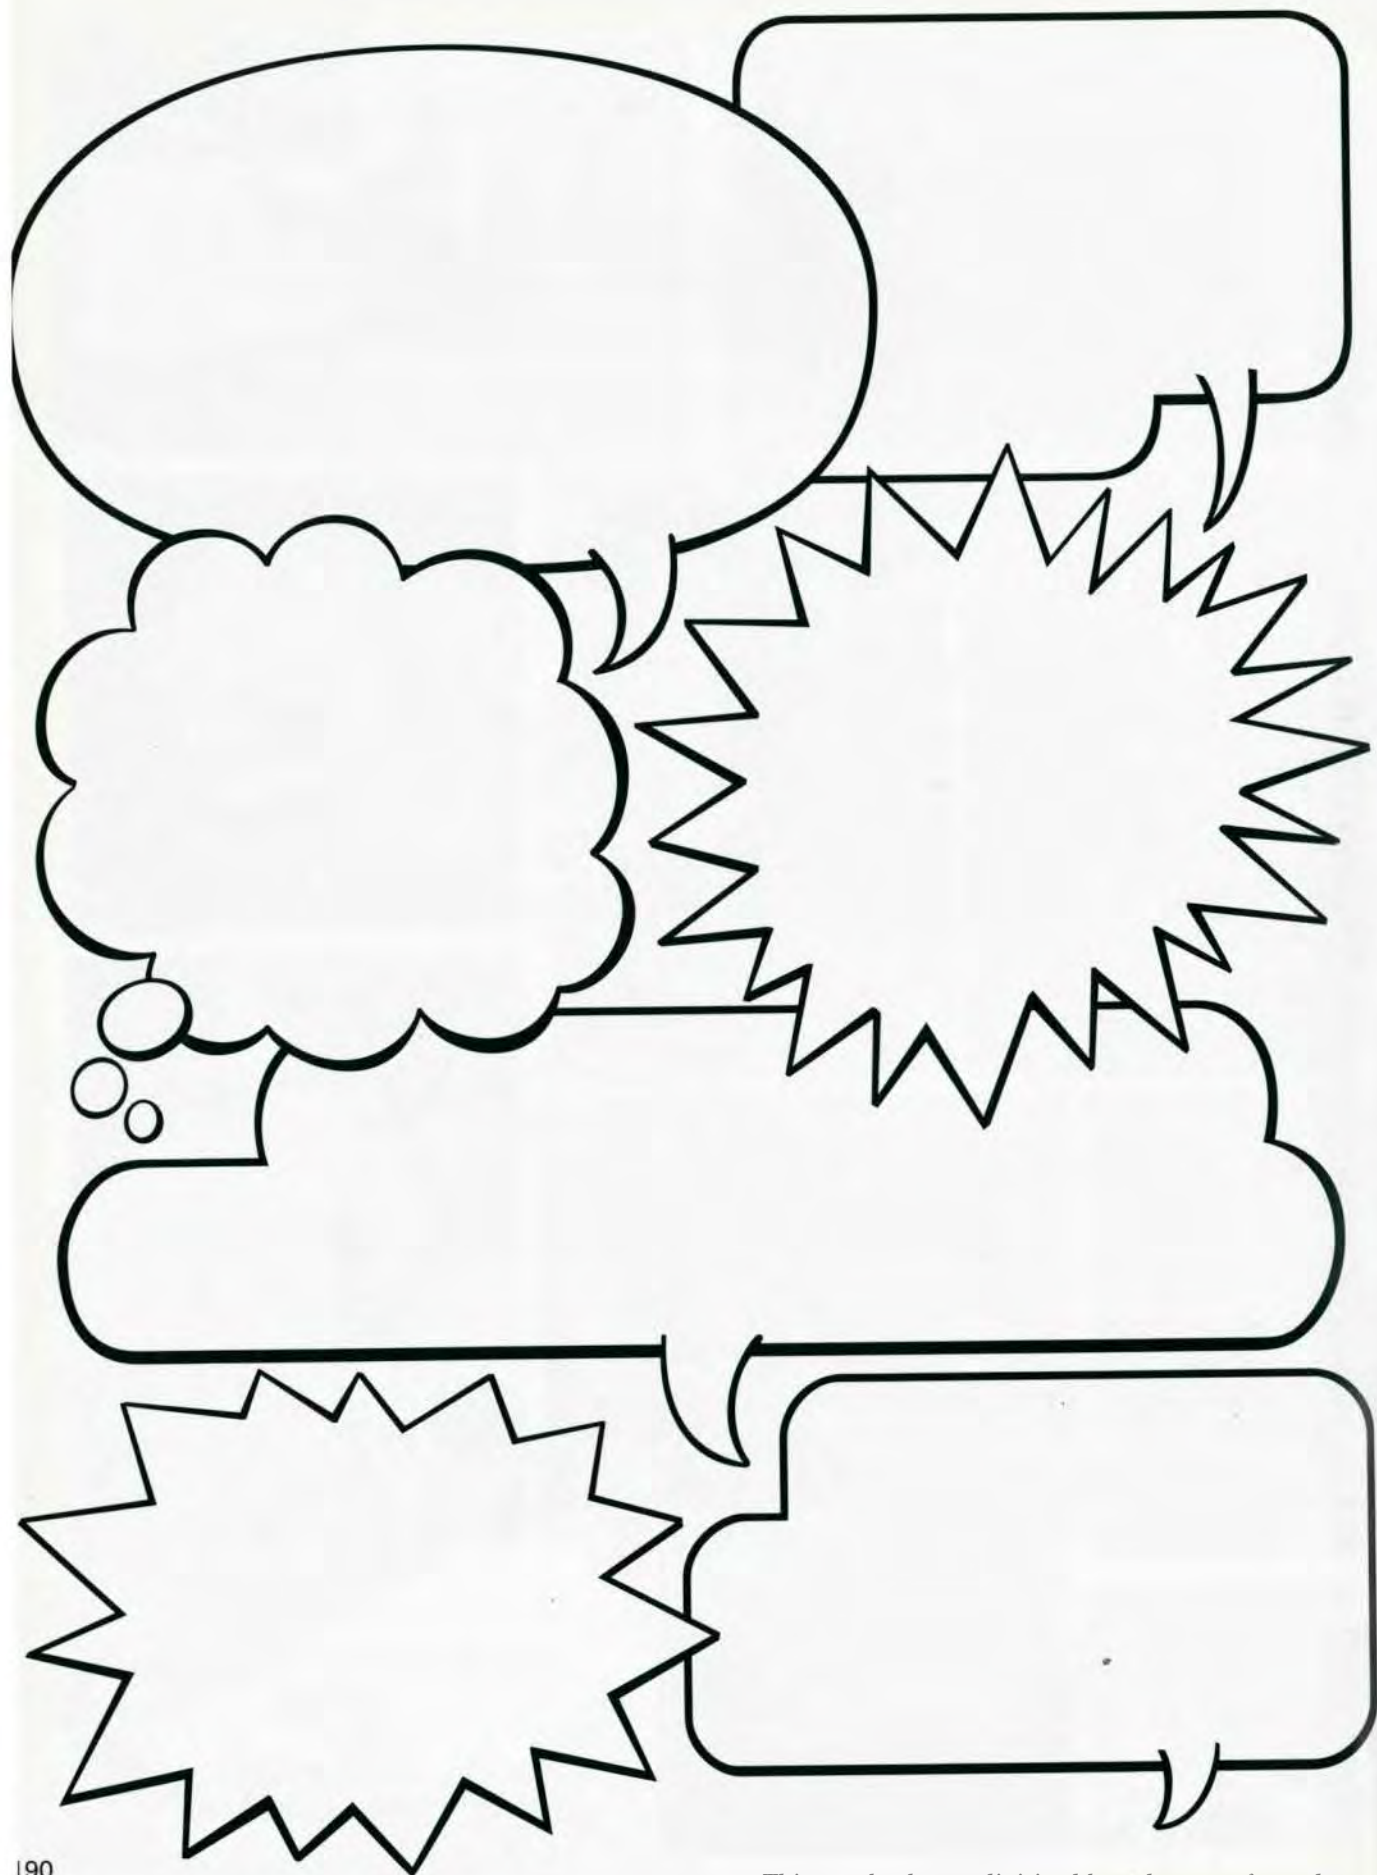

A yearbook is a time capsule. Ready to be looked upon any time our heart desires. It will never be forgotten or thrown away. It is also a tool~a tool for remembering. By looking inside these pages you are already using this tool. By reading this book and looking at the pictures, you are holding a key to unlock the past and to explain a memory.

After all, a
